ABOUT THE PLACE

Spiti is a cold desert mountain valley bordered on all sides by the Himalayas and is located in Himachal Pradesh.

The term Spiti means 'The Middle Land', as Spiti Valley separates India from Tibet.

This majestic cold desert valley has pine forests, green meadows, beautiful monasteries and inhabited villages that will leave you totally awe-stuck. Situated at an altitude of around 12,500 ft above sea level the barren mountains over here change their hues every second and it is definitely a sight to behold.

The Travellers can choose to go on a nature trail over here to encounter rare avian species and the jaw-dropping beauty of nature. Take part in adventurous activities like hiking, rappelling, and camping here. Step out of the confines of your mundane life and hop on to enjoy some shutter shooting in the arms of nature at White Wonder Spiti.

Dhankar Fort And Monastery

This beautiful monastery is locked between the rocky spurs at the top of a cliff in the Dhankar village at an elevation of over 3,800 meters in the Spiti valley. It is a 16th-century old fort monastery, which has also served as a prison in the erstwhile era. The Dhankar Gomba is over 1000 years old . The fort of Dhankar now lies in ruins, but still is a place worthy of a visit. From the remnants of the fort, one can see vast expanses of the Spiti valley.

Nako Village

Often ignored for metaphorically bigger pastures, Nako Village has a lot to offer in its quiet, non-pompous manner. Given the extreme isolation from the rest of the world, Nako has a yesteryear charm, and often it feels like you're in another galaxy in another era. The sweet, humble, and beautiful people of the region make for great friends
